Jasmine (Yasmeen):

Is a flower of moral value, a symbol to Syrians in general and Damascus in particular, being related to Al-Sham history and spread in its gardens and fused within balconies and walls of all Damascus houses...

Jasmine gave Damascus the title of Capital of Jasmine so poems were written about the city as if it was a Super- feminine woman.

"Jasmine Alphabet" of Nizar Qabbani who started his trail with flower since he was hours old, he grew under its shade to be a part of his life, thoughts and poems..Even his will included his Jasmine scent "I want my body to be transferred after my death to Damascus and buried in the family cemetery because Damascus is the Uterus which taught me poetry and innovation and gifted me the Jasmine Alphabet"...

Mahmoud Darwish the Palestinian poet did not forget the Jasmine flower in his poetry "don't apologize for what you have done" in which he addressed Al-Sham: " In Al-Sham I know who I am , a moon glitters in a woman's hand and a stone washed with Jasmine tears guides me in the middle of the crowd"...

The Jasmine perfume persists as Damascus persists, it was strong as Damascus strength and kept the issue of the poets throughout the ages, Ibn Al-Abar the poet from Andalusia described it:"A flower like stars flower in the middle of its orbits thrones of Jasmine appear "...
